MAN'S NATURE

The Challenge

Impotence has plagued man since time began. Prostate problems are also quite common and tend to increase with age. Prostate-related problems include prostate enlargement, incomplete and/or frequent urination, dribbling, inability to copulate, and loss of libido.

One of the most common prostate problems is BPH (benign prostatic hyperplasia), basically a swollen prostate. The older you get, the more likely you'll be dealing with this problem—especially if you do nothing about it. Some of the causes of prostate issues are the conversion of testosterone into the male hormone DHT, which can enlarge the prostate, along with the presence of too much estrogen.

The Solution

This botanical formulation is 100% food. The herbs and foods contained in Man's Nature have been known for centuries to help natural sexual capacity and function, and to awaken the passion of men.

This formula is also intended to supply nutrients and herbs needed to maintain and support optimal prostate and male health. For instance, zinc levels in the prostate gland are supposed to be higher than in any other soft tissue of the body, showing that zinc is highly important for prostate function. Also included are specific herbs to boost reproductive health by reducing sexual dysfunction, and to lower estrogen dominance, which causes increased fat deposits in breast and abdomen, and loss of muscle mass. Plus, Man's Nature helps to be a prostate cancer fighter.
